AI-Powered Safety Intelligence and Analytics

Business IntelligenceX, powered by NavaX, provides a unified, AI-powered Safety intelligence and analytics platform for PV operations, harnessing the latest innovations to enable unmatched efficiencies, faster time-to-insight, and enhanced decision-making across your PV operations.

Conversational Ad Hoc Reporting

Users interact with safety data using plain language, asking questions that AI interprets, uses to write and run SQLs, and returns tables and charts, without requiring any manual report building.

Intelligent Recommendations

Prepare for what comes next by harnessing AI that can interpret and answer forward-looking questions, including forecasting future workloads and recommending actions to take.

Dynamic Reporting Interactions

Follow-up in the same conversation, including refining reports to fit your needs without having to rebuild or create new reports, as well as generating headline summaries for executive consumption.

Self-Service Insights

Enable every pharmacovigilance user to build reports and understand their safety data without requiring report design, query building, or technical expertise.

AI Analytics Assistant

Move from what happened to why, with AI capable of explaining trends, analyze operational performance, and comparing intervals and datasets based on natural language prompts.

Full Traceability

Generated SQLs and other AI outputs remain fully accessible and viewable, to ensure explainability and auditability, including human-in-the-loop for all reports and insights generated.
